REWARDS FOR SERVICE IN THE FIELD.

VICTORIA CROSS.

(Extract from the London Gazette, dated 25th Nov. 1916.)

War Office,
25th November, 1916.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to confer the Victoria Cross on the undermentioned Officers, Non-commissioned Officers, and Men.—

Lieutenant (temporary Lieutenant Colonel) Roland Boys Bradford, M.C., Durham Light Infantry.

For most conspicuous bravery and good leadership in attack, whereby he saved the situation on the right flank of his Brigade and of the Division.

Lieutenant-Colonel Bradford's battalion was in support. A leading battalion having suffered very severe casualties, and the Commander wounded, its flank became dangerously exposed at close quarters to the enemy. Raked by machine-gun fire, the situation of the battalion was critical. At the request of the wounded Commander, Lieutenant-Colonel Bradford asked permission to command the exposed Battalion in addition to his own.

Permission granted, he at once proceeded to the foremost lines.

By his fearless energy under fire of all description, and his skilful leadership of the two battalions regardless of all danger he succeeded in rallying the attack, captured and defended the objective, and so secured the flank.

Temporary Second Lieutenant Tom Edwin Adlam, Bedfordshire Regiment.

For most conspicuous bravery during operations.

A portion of a village which had defied capture on the previous day had to be captured at all costs to permit subsequent operations to develop.

This minor operation came under very heavy machine gun and rifle fire.

Second Lieutenant Adlam, realising that time was all-important, rushed from shell hole to shell hole under heavy fire collecting men for a sudden rush, and for this purpose also collected many enemy grenades. At this stage he was wounded in the leg, but nevertheless he was able to outthrow the enemy and then seizing his opportunity, and in spite of his wound, he led a rush, captured the position and killed the occupants. Throughout the day he continued to lead his men in bombing attacks.

On the following day he again displayed courage of the highest order, and though again wounded and unable to throw bombs, he continued to lead his men.

His magnificent example and valour, coupled with the skilful handling of the situation, produced far-reaching results.

Temporary Second Lieutenant Henry Kelly, West Riding Regiment.

For most conspicuous bravery in attack.

He twice rallied his Company under the heaviest fire, and finally led the only three available men into the enemy trench, and there remained bombing until two of them had become casualties and enemy reinforcements had arrived.

He then carried his Company Sergeant-Major, who had been wounded, back to our trenches, a distance of 70 yards, and subsequently three other soldiers. He set a fine example of gallantry and endurance.

No. 11213 Serjeant Robert Downie, Royal Dublin Fusiliers.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty in attack.

When most of the officers had become casualties this Non-Commissioned Officer, utterly regardless of personal danger, moved about under heavy fire and reorganised the attack, which had been temporarily checked. At the critical moment he rushed forward alone, shouting, "Come on, the Dubs."

This stirring appeal met with immediate response, and the line rushed forward at his call.

Serjeant Downie accounted for several of the enemy, and, in addition, captured a machine gun killing the team. Though wounded early in the fight, he remained with his company, and gave valuable assistance whilst the position was being consolidated.

It was owing to Serjeant Downie's courage and initiative that this important position, which had resisted four or five previous attacks, was won.

No. 15688 Serjeant James Young Turnbull, late Highland Light Infantry.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty, when, having with his party captured a post apparently of great importance to the enemy, he was subjected to severe counter-attacks, which were continuous throughout the whole day. Although his party were wiped out and replaced several times during the day, Serjeant Turnbull never wavered in his determination to hold the post, the loss of which would have been very serious. Almost single handed, he maintained his position, and displayed the highest degree of valour and skill in the performance of his duties.

Later in the day this very gallant soldier was killed whilst bombing a counter-attack from the parados of our trench.

No. 2442 Private Frederick Jeremiah Edwards, Middlesex Regiment.

For most conspicuous bravery and resource. His part of the line was held up by machine gun fire, and all officers had become casualties. There was confusion and indication of retirement.

Private Edwards, grasping the situation on his own initiative, dashed out alone towards the gun, which he knocked out with bombs.

This very gallant act, coupled with great presence of mind and a total disregard of personal danger, made further advance possible and cleared up a dangerous situation.

No. 3281 Private Robert Ryder, Middlesex Regiment.

For most conspicuous bravery and initiation during an attack

His company was held up by heavy rifle fire, and all his officers had become casualties. For want of leadership the attack was flagging.

Private Ryder, realising the situation, without a moment's thought for his own safety dashed absolutely alone at the enemy trench, and, by skilful manipulation of his Lewis gun, succeeded in clearing the trench. This very gallant act not only made possible, but also greatly inspired the subsequent advance of his comrades, and turned possible failure into success.

REWARDS FOR SERVICE IN THE FIELD—contd.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

(Extract from the London Gazette, dated 2nd November, 1916.)

War Office,
2nd November, 1916.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to award the Distinguished Service Order to the undermentioned officers, in recognition of their distinguished service and devotion to duty during the spring and summer of last year in the Prisoners of War Camp at Gardelegen, Germany:—

Captain Augustus Scott Williams, R.A.M.C.
Captain Arthur James Brown, R.A.M.C., Special Reserve.

(Extract from the London Gazette, dated 14th November, 1916.)

War Office,
14th November, 1916.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointments of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the Field:—

Temp. Lt. Claude Allerton, Suff. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. After his senior officers had become casualties in the attack, he took command of the battalion and carried on with coolness and judgment under heavy fire, until a senior officer arrived in the evening.

Temp. Capt. Henry Gordon Gooch Ashton, W. Gds.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Owing to several casualties he found himself in command of three companies and some 50 men of other units. For many hours he was fighting the enemy on all sides, and had his men facing front and rear in the same trench. His great determination and fine leadership were largely responsible for the holding of the position.

Capt. The Hon. Wilfred Russell Bailey, G. Gds.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Captains Bailey and Harcourt-Vernon led a company out of the trench with great dash. They themselves led by at least 50 yards, and shot many of the enemy with their revolvers. About 60 of the enemy were accounted for, mainly with the bayonet, and 42 made prisoners.

Temp. Maj. Anthony Charles Barnes, York. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When in command of two companies he held his own with great determination under heavy fire for 36 hours, and later recaptured a lost position.

Lt. (temp. Capt.) William Harold Louis Barnett, Bedf. R. Spec. Res.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with the greatest courage and determination. Later he led his company in the assault after suffering nine hours under barrage fire. His gallantry and initiative greatly assisted the success of the operations.

Lt. Rupert Stanton Baugh, C. Gds. Spec. Res.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When cut off from his battalion he rallied the men of different units around him, and beat off three hostile counter-attacks. He hung on to his position for 48 hours, though himself twice blown up by high explosive shells, one of which rendered him unconscious.

Lt. Karl Vere Barker Benfield, R.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When observation officer, he with two men and a N.C.O., attacked a party of the enemy, killing several and capturing seven prisoners and a communication trench. He displayed the greatest courage and initiative throughout.

Maj. (temp. Lt.-Col.) Duncan Hamilton Blunt Devon. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his battalion with great dash in the attack and capture of a wood, and established his position as a captured enemy trench beyond. He thus greatly facilitated the further advance.

Lt. (temp. Capt. James Brindley, M.C., E. York. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company in the attack with the greatest courage and initiative, himself accounting for 12 of the enemy. Later, although wounded, he continued to advance, and with a small party captured 61 prisoners. He has previously done very fine work.

Temp. Lt.-Col. George Alexander McLean Buckley, Leins. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his battalion with the greatest courage and determination. He has on many previous occasions done very fine work.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Frederick George Cangley, L'pool R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company under intense fire to support a battalion which had been held up, displaying the greatest courage and initiative. Later, he assumed command of the battalion, rallied it, and organized the defence with great ability.

Lt.-Col. Robert Joyce Clarke, R. Berks. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He has handled his battalion with great skill and determination. On three separate occasions his fine leading has achieved important success.

Temp. Capt. Charles Robert Davidge Clemінson, L'pool R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. While leading troops to reinforce the attacking line, he saw the troops on his left retiring and leaving the flank of the division exposed. On his own initiative he at once took his two companies, and any other men he could gather, close to the position, consolidated a defensive flank and held it till relieved.

Maj. Walter McClelland Crosbie, R. Muns. Fus.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led two companies with the greatest courage and initiative. Later, he organized the position with great skill, displaying great coolness throughout. He was wounded.

Temp. Lt.-Col. Harry Francis Darell, Rif. Bde.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He organized a reinforcing attack, under heavy shell fire, and when units were much mixed up. By his skill and good leading the attack reached its objective.

Maj. Giles Bulteel Daubeny, R.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He conducted the fire of his battery from the advanced trenches under heavy fire with great skill and determination. He also sent in accurate reports throughout the day.

2nd Lt. (temp. Capt.) Roy Craig Dunford, North'd Fus.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. For three days prior to an attack he directed the digging of assault trenches under heavy shell fire. During the attack his personal direction of his company resulted in heavy losses to the enemy and the capture of 150 prisoners. Finally he was shot through the body whilst organizing his defences.

Temp. Capt. George Douglas Ferguson, M.B., R.A.M.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He tended the wounded under very heavy fire, bringing in over fifty wounded men, and displaying the greatest courage and determination. His fearless bearing set a fine example.

REWARDS FOR SERVICE IN THE FIELD—DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER—contd.

2nd Lt. John Steed Fuller, C. Gds. Spec. Res.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When his portion of the line was held up by rifle and machine-gun fire, he collected a party of his company and rushed the enemy's position in face of overwhelming odds, thus enabling the advance to proceed. Later he was seriously wounded.

Capt. (temp. Maj.) Henry Gorell Barnes, Lord Gorell, R.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He pushed forward and handled his battery under very heavy fire with the greatest courage and skill. Later, he carried out a daring reconnaissance and obtained most valuable information.

Temp. Capt. Andrew Gow, Cam'n Highrs.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He took command of the whole of the forward operations and led the attack with great skill and determination. It was greatly due to his organizing powers and the excellent information he sent back that the operations were successful.

Capt. Granville Charles FitzHerbert Harcourt-Vernon, G. Gds.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Captains Harcourt-Vernon and Bailey led a company out of the trench with great dash. They themselves led by at least 50 yards, and shot many of the enemy with their revolvers. About 60 of the enemy were accounted for, mainly with the bayonet, and 42 made prisoners.

Capt. (temp. Maj.) Thomas Charles Hargreaves, Lond. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led the advance with skill and determination when the attack was held up by machine-gun fire. Later, he set a fine personal example when beating off a counter-attack on an exposed flank. He was wounded.

Capt. (temp. Maj.) Edgar Richard Hatfield, R.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He handled his battery throughout with the greatest courage and determination. Later, with one N.C.O., he put out a fire among burning ammunition in a gun-pit at great personal risk.

Capt. (temp. Lt.-Col.) John Frederic Roundel Hope, K.R.R.C.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He commanded his battalion with great determination during two days of heavy enemy counter-attacks, and it was largely due to his personal example that the attacks were repulsed. He carried on after he had been blown from the parapet, nearly buried and much shaken.

Temp. Capt. Charles Kenneth James, Bord. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led a party against the enemy with the greatest courage and skill, and put the enemy to flight. Later, he organised and led a bombing party, capturing a much greater position than he had set out to take. He has on many previous occasions done very fine work.

2nd Lt. (temp. Capt.) Eric Gwyn James, Shrops. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. He personally superintended, with great skill, all arrangements for two attacks on the enemy, and was dangerously wounded.

Maj. Guy Egerton Kidd, R.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He commanded his battery with great skill and determination. Later he carried out a most valuable reconnaissance, during this he passed two trenches held by the enemy and captured two prisoners.

2nd Lt. Patrick Anthony Langan-Byrne, R.A. and R.F.C.

For conspicuous skill and gallantry. He has shown great pluck in attacking hostile machines, often against large odds. He has accounted for several. On one occasion, with two other machines, he attacked seventeen enemy machines, shot down one in flames and forced another to land.

Temp. 2nd Lt. John Henry Lee, K.R.R.C.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Although wounded he assumed command and led his company with the greatest courage and determination. Later, again being wounded, he remained on duty, establishing connection with neighbouring units, and consolidating ground won.

Lt. Oliver William Hargreaves Leese, C. Gds

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led the assault against a strongly held part of the enemy's line, which was stooping the whole attack. He personally accounted for many of the enemy and enabled the attack to proceed. He was wounded during the fight.

Rev. Martin Patrick Grange Leonard, Temp. Chapl., 4th Class, A. Chapl. Dept. (R. Lanc. R.)

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during protracted operations. He was always moving about among the wounded giving them encouragement. He assisted the medical officer in tending the wounded under heavy shell-fire, and on one occasion carried a wounded man himself on a stretcher. His gallantry and devotion to duty has been beyond praise.

Capt. Francis Longueville, M.C., C. Gds.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He commanded his company with great determination throughout the fight. When the first objective was taken he collected men, and led the leading wave through an intense barrage to the second objective.

Temp. Capt. James Bonthron Macmillan, D. of Corn. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led the attacking force with the greatest courage and determination at all times, sending back most valuable information. Later, with both his flanks exposed, he held and consolidated the position against determined enemy bombing attacks.

Maj. (temp. Lt.-Col.) David Mathers, R. Innis. Fus.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He handled his battalion throughout the operations with the greatest courage and initiative, gaining his objective, and capturing two machine guns, three officers, and over 100 other ranks.

2nd Lt. Thomas William Minchin, G. Gds. Spec. Res.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He cleared an orchard, killing many of the enemy, and sited and organised a new line of defence under heavy rifle and machine-gun fire. He displayed the greatest coolness, and went back himself to report on the situation after four different runners had become casualties.

Maj. (temp. Lt.-Col.) Richard Oakley, Sco. Rif.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He gallantly lead his regiment and assisted to defeat two enemy counter-attacks. He set a splendid example of coolness and courage to his men. He was wounded.

Temp. Lt. John Wilson Patterson, R.E.

For conspicuous gallantry. While proceeding with two men to his working party, he suddenly saw a party of the enemy coming out of a deep dug-out. He and his two men rushed at them, disarmed about 16 who had rifles, and took the whole party, two officers and 34 men, prisoners.

Maj. Henry Colin Mansel Porter, K.R.R.C.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assumed command of his battalion, and also of another unit, displaying the greatest courage and initiative. In order to exercise his extended command he went about in the open under very heavy fire.

Maj. (temp. Lt.-Col.) William Villiers Leonard Prescott-Westcar, Rif. Bde.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his battalion with the greatest courage and initiative, carrying the first, third, and fifth objectives. Later, he personally supervised the reorganisation and consolidation, and sending back most valuable information. He was severely wounded.

Maj. (temp. Lt.-Col.) Lewis Leslie Clayton Reynolds, Oxf. and Bucks. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He handled his battalion with great skill and determination. On two separate occasions his good leading has achieved important success.

Temp. Lt. Frederick William Rhodes, Shrops. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When his battalion was held up, he organised a party and rushed a battery of enemy guns, capturing four officers and 20 other ranks, as well as four field guns. He displayed the greatest courage and initiative throughout.

2nd Lt. Claude Alward Ridley, M.C., R. Fus. and R.F.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and judgment in the execution of a special mission. When his machine was wrecked he showed great resource, and obtained valuable information.

Maj. William Maxwell Shaw, R.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He went forward to ascertain the exact situation of our advanced infantry. Later, with another officer and two bombers, he carried out a daring reconnaissance of a trench thought to be occupied by the enemy, thereby obtaining most valuable information.

Capt. Edgar Sheppard, M.C., G. Gds.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his men to their objective with the greatest courage and initiative. Later, his left flank being unprotected, he threw back a defensive flank and got into touch with the troops on his left.

Temp. Capt. Pierre Steyn, Bedf. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. In three separate fights he displayed great coolness and determination, and by his fine example greatly encouraged all ranks.

Temp. Capt. (temp. Maj.) Robert James Abbott Tamplin, Conn. Rang.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with the greatest courage and determination, and was instrumental in capturing the position. He was wounded.

Maj. Gwyn Thomas, Bengal Lrs.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He went forward to ascertain the situation, passed through a heavy barrage, rallied and collected the troops, and led them forward with great skill and determination, displaying splendid personal courage.

Maj. Henry Edward O'Brien Traill, R.A.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He handled his battery throughout with the greatest courage and determination. His fearless bearing was of the greatest value, not only to his own battery, but to the batteries on either side of him. On several occasions he extricated wagons and teams from places of danger.

Maj. (temp. Lt.-Col.) Cecil John Troyte-Bullock, Som. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his battalion, which was in reserve, with great skill, and by his prompt reinforcement of the attacking line materially helped to beat off a counter-attack. Though wounded in the leg, he remained in command till the position was secured.

Maj. (temp. Lt.-Col.) Sidney Twells Watson, R.W. Surr. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and able leadership in action. Under his direction and initiative the enemy attack was driven back, the position won, and many prisoners taken.

AUSTRALIAN IMPERIAL FORCE.

Maj. Fred Leslie Biddle, Fd. Arty.

For conspicuous gallantry during three days of operations. As liaison officer he did fine work, and when his telephone lines were repeatedly cut passed through the barrage to telephone stations of other units in order to get his information through. He was himself wounded on the last day.

Maj. Percy Black, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. He led his company over "No Man's Land" against an enemy's strong point, which he captured and consolidated under very difficult circumstances and under heavy artillery and machine-gun fire. On a subsequent occasion he did similar fine work.

Capt. Herbert Mansel Brettingham-Moore, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. He cleared his trench of the enemy with great determination, and, hearing that some of the enemy wanted to surrender, he went towards them and drove them out of the dug-outs with his revolver to the part of the trench held by us, where they were taken by our men. He was wounded at the time.

Capt. Charles Fortescue, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He commanded his company with the greatest courage and skill. Later, although wounded, he greatly assisted in defeating several enemy counter-attacks. He showed a splendid example of coolness and initiative to his men.

Capt. Ross Harwood, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with the greatest gallantry against two enemy strong points. Although wounded, he secured his objective and captured 150 prisoners. He set a splendid example of coolness and initiative to his men.

Maj. Lewis Wilmer Jeffries, A.M.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during operations. He tended the wounded and reorganized the stretcher-bearers in the front line at great personal risk. When only a few bearers were left, he himself assisted to carry back the wounded under heavy fire.

Capt. Henry William Murry, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Although twice wounded, he commanded his company with the greatest courage and initiative, beating off four enemy counter-attacks. Later, when an enemy bullet staged a man's equipment exploding, he tore the man's equipment off at great personal risk. He set a splendid example throughout.

CANADIAN FORCE.

Maj. Howard Lionel Bodwell, Pioneers.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He, with a small party, built a roadway under intense fire displaying the greatest courage and initiative. He has on many previous occasions done very fine work.

Capt. Charles Edgar Atheling Bredin, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company in attack and captured an enemy strong point, which was holding up the attack, under intense artillery, rifle and machine-gun fire Later he took over the companies of the whole line and consolidated the position with great skill and determination.

Temp. Maj. Charles Edward Fairweather, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. With his company he dug a trench 200 yards in front of the fron line under intense fire, and thereby rendered the support necessary to ensure the safety of the ground gained by a flanking battalion. He displayed the greatest courage and initiative throughout.

Lt.-Col. Ethelbert Brown Hardy, A.M.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during operations. He controlled the evacuation of the sick and wounded, and by his energy and courage kept up the spirits of the stretcher-bearers when they were much exhausted.

Capt. (temp. Maj.) John Brunton Harstone, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with great dash in the attack, and, when he had lost touch with his battalion commander, assumed command of all the troops round him, consolidated his position, and organized his defences. All this was under heavy fire.

Capt. Lionel Dalziel Heron, M.C., Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He made a most valuable reconnaissance. Later he organized a bombing party, capturing many prisoners. These services he performed with splendid courage and skill, and greatly assisted the advance.

Lt.-Col. Harry Merville Jacques, A.M.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He supervised the clearing of the front and controlled the work of the advanced and main dressing stations with great skill and personal courage.

Maj. George Walkers MacLeod, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. He went forward into the fight and selected the ground to be consolidated, and, though severely wounded, made his way back under heavy fire, and rendered a complete report on the situation. He has always set a fine example of coolness and courage.

Maj. Harold French McDonald, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. He carried out a dangerous reconnaissance under heavy shell fire, and after a shell splinter had blown off his arm he reported the result of his reconnaissance before allowing the stretcher-bearers to remove him.

Lt. Arnold E. McElligott, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He took complete command of the front line of three companies, and with great skill and determinat on consolidated the line under intense fire and local attacks.

Maj. Jno. Allen McKenzie, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. He commanded his company with great skill and determination during the capture of a position, and, by his accurate reports, enabled preparations to be made by which a heavy counter attack was beaten off. He has done other fine work.

Maj. Larne T. McLaughlin, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his men forward with great dash under machine gun and rifle fire, consolidated his position, and repulsed frequent counter-attacks. On one occasion he personally led bombers to repulse an attack on his flank.

Lt Herbert Norris, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. The officers of the battalion having become casualties, he took command of the whole, and under very heavy fire organised and consolidated the position. He displayed high qualities of initiative and command.

Lt. Charles Edward Reynolds, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led his company with the greatest courage and initiative. Later, he led a small party against the enemy, himself shooting two enemy officers, and thereby enabling his company to advance. He set a splendid example of bravery and devotion to duty.

Lt. John James Richardson, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When his senior officers had become casualties, he led his men with great courage and determination to the final objective, and consolidated the position. Later, he captured many prisoners.

Maj. Charles James Townsend Stewart, P.P.C.L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He led an attack which captured two enemy trenches, and showed great determination, both in the attack and in the consolidation of the position won.

Maj. Roscoe Vanderwater, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He commanded the attacking party with great determination, and held and consolidated the captured trench. He personally supervised the digging of the new communication trenches. On other occasions he has done fine work.

NEW ZEALAND FORCE.

Capt. Fred Starnes, Canterbury Regt.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When, after heavy fighting, our men were exhausted, and being attacked in front and on both flanks, he rallied them and personally led a third and final attack with such determination that the enemy were swept back up their own communication trenches. Next day he beat off a strong counter-attack, with heavy loss.

SOUTH AFRICAN FORCE.

Lt.-Col. Newdigate Halford Marriott Burne, Inf. (T.)

For conspicuous gallantry and ability in action. During the enemy's attack, which lasted eight hours, he selected his positions with great skill, inspired his officers and men by his fine example, and beat off the enemy with heavy loss.

The undermentioned have been awarded a Bar to their Distinguished Service Order for subsequent acts of conspicuous gallantry:—

Maj. (temp. Lt.-Col.) Walter Allason, D.S.O., Bedf. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He executed an attack with the greatest initiative and resource, thereby enabling a strong enemy position to be captured. He handled his battalion with great skill throughout the operations.

(The Distinguished Service Order was awarded in London Gazette dated 18 Feb. 1915.)

Capt. (temp. Maj.) Allan Grant Birch, D.S.O., R.E.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. With a small party he pushed forward on reconnaissance work under very heavy fire. The information gained was of great value. He was severely wounded.

(The Distinguished Service Order was awarded in London Gazette dated 14th Jan. 1916.)

Temp. Lt.-Col. Cyril Ambrey Blacklock, D.S.O., K. R. Rif. C.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When in command of the left attack of the brigade, considerable bodies of the enemy emerged from underground defences in rear of the brigade. He at once detached parties to deal with the situation, thereby enabling the attack to be successfully carried out. Later he captured and consolidated five consecutive objectives, displaying the greatest courage and initiative.

(The Distinguished Service Order was awarded in London Gazette dated 3rd June, 1916).

Temp. Capt. Hugh Llewellyn Glyn Hughes, D.S.O., R.A.M.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during operations. On four separate days he showed an utter contempt for danger when collecting and tending the wounded under heavy shell-fire.

(The Distinguished Service Order was awarded in London Gazette dated 28th August, 1916.)

(Extract from the London Gazette, dated 25th November, 1916)

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to confer the undermentioned award for gallantry and distinguished service in the Field:—

Distinguished Service Order.

Capt. (temp. Maj.) George Lewis Baxter. Cam'n Highrs.

For gallantry and ability, when in command of part of the force which was attacked by far superior numbers. Major Baxter showed great ability in the handling of his force, and repulsed the enemy with considerable losses. He showed great coolness, and rendered valuable assistance in bringing in a wounded officer under heavy rifle and machine-gun fire.

War Office,
25th November, 1916.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointments of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the Field:—

REWARDS FOR SERVICE IN THE FIELD—DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL—contd.

6005 Coy. Serjt.-Maj. R. MacDonald, York. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assumed command of his company and handled his men with great courage and determination. He set a splendid example throughout.

8071 Coy. Serjt.-Maj. W. McCubbin, R. Highrs.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assumed command of his company and re-organized them with great courage and initiative. He set a fine example to his men.

10308 Coy. Serjt.-Maj. (Actg. Serjt.-Maj.) J. McMenemy, High. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assumed command of all parties of his battalion in the captured trench, displaying great courage and initiative.

4488 Coy. Serjt.-Maj. J. H. Mitchell, Rif. Brig.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Some men being buried, he organized a party and worked for four hours under very heavy fire, displaying great courage and determination. He has previously done fine work.

3632 Drill Serjt. (Coy. Serjt.-Maj.) M Moran, I. Gds.

For conspicuous gallantry throughout an advance and during the consolidation of the first objective. He set a fine example of courage and devotion to duty until wounded.

8374 Serjt. (Actg. Coy. Serjt.-Maj.) H. Mottershead, Ches. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He repaired wires and rescued several wounded men under intense fire, displaying great courage and determination. Later he rendered valuable assistance in reorganizing the position gained.

9680 Coy. Serjt-Maj. W. F. Nicholay, E. York. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and resource in making a new communication trench, and getting the men together in their proper working places after being scattered by shells bursting in the trenches. He did not hesitate to expose himself on the parapet to supervise the work.

8/9640 Coy. Serjt.-Maj. H. Padgett, W. York. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When his company officers had become casualties he took command, with great skill, setting a fine example of grit and devotion to duty.

5170 Coy. Serjt.-Maj. E. Sergeant, Leic. R.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assisted his company commander in forming a firing line very close to the enemy by walking about in the open and rallying men of his own and of another company with great courage. He was severely wounded.

10930 Coy. Serjt-Maj. D. Sheridan, High. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry during operations. After his battalion had reached its final objective Coy. Serjt.-Maj. Sheridan went out alone to reconnoitre the position. He entered a dug-out and found an enemy and machine gun. He seized the man and forced him to carry the machine gun back to our lines.

9797 Coy. Serjt.-Maj. F. Snook, G. Gds.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When all the officers near him had become casualties, Coy. Serjt.-Maj. Snook, although wounded himself, collected what men he could and pushed forward to the most advanced firing line, assisting his company commander to collect and reorganize men of various battalions under most trying conditions and heavy fire.

1462 Coy. Serjt.-Maj. T. Spence, R. Highrs.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assumed command and reorganized his company with great courage and initiative. He set a fine example to his men.
